

Toshi Tanabe is the head of Insertion Devices Group for the National Synchrotron Light Source II (NSLS-II). He has responsibility for the oversight of insertion device development, procurement, installation and operation for the facility, and is responsible for the Insertion Device Magnetic Measurement Facility.